1. PURPOSE

To specify the approval pathway for changes to units.

2. SCOPE

This policy applies to units taught in course in the Faculty of Education and the Faculty of Counselling, Chaplaincy and Spiritual Care.

3. POLICY STATEMENT

Morling College's Academic Board exercises academic governance over units taught in the Faculty of Education and the Faculty of Counselling, Chaplaincy and Spiritual Care through approval processes that are variously overseen by unit coordinators, faculty deans and the Academic Board. The approval level is determined by the magnitude and significance of the change, according to the Approval Pathways below.

The approval processes under this policy are designed to establish efficient processes for the continuous improvement in the content, delivery, resources and assessment of units, whilst maintaining the integrity and quality of the awards within which they are taught.

Records of all changes approved by faculty deans and unit coordinators are maintained by the Department/Faculty and, where required in the Approval Pathways below, reported to the Academic Board. Several changes together may constitute change which needs to be approved at a higher level. The emphasis at all times is on full disclosure of changes.
